The advertisement features a central image of the Steel Star parking heater unit, which is a black cylindrical device with a label and various ports. Below the unit is a coiled black cable with red and white wires, and a small white plastic component. The background is a composite of two winter scenes: on the left, a white and yellow bus is parked in the snow; on the right, a red semi-truck is driving on a snowy road. The Steel Star logo and website are also visible in the center of the image.
